Attachments: EPA INSPECTION LIST APRIL 2013.xlsx

Hello Glenn,

Attached is the list of dairies for our April inspections. I've included several alternates in case any of the prime 10 have closed. On the list, the first 10 are the prime facilities. For any facilities that have had a discharge, I've noted it by placing a "D" next to the inspection number (i.e., 4 D). The list contains the information you requested. Let me know if you need any additional information. Take care

Ed

Hi Ed,

Forgot to mention that as always, when you get the opportunity, could you please e-mail me a list of the facilities (CAFO sized 700+Aus or medium sized 299 – 699 which you designated as CAFOs due to possibly having past history of discharges) along with the usual inventory info:

- Facilty name
- Address (including County)
- Owner/Operator contact info (name, address, and ph#)
- Lat/Long
- Proposed date of inspection

Thanks Ed.

Glenn

Hello Glenn,
Sounds good! Flo's Airport Café is at 7000 Merrill Ave, Chino. See you there.

Hi Ed,

I made my reservations for our inspection week of April 8. I'll be flying in on Southwest arriving Ontario at 11:45 (taking a tram to the rental car agency and checking out of the airport around 12:30pm.). I can meet up with you at Flo's around 1:30pm. Hopefully, my flight will not be delayed. I will also not get fooled with the Flo's#2 café address on my GPS. I'll input the airport Flo's instead.

See you on Monday 4/8.

Glenn

Subject: RE: Strategy for upcoming 10 CAFO Dairy Inspections mid-late April 2013

Hello Glenn,

Good to hear from you. I will also start making plans for our April inspections. The week of April 8 looks best for me. I will plan my schedule with the notion that you will be able to come for inspections. I will comprise a list with a few alternates.

It has been a struggle to conduct follow-up inspections for the AO/308 facilities. For the past few months, I've been the only resource our office has for dairy follow-up inspections. I was also given a priority to provide support for the renewal of our dairy permit. I'm hoping next week to give some attention to the 308 follow-up inspections. Hope to see you in April.

Ed

Subject: Strategy for upcoming 10 CAFO Dairy Inspections mid-late April 2013

Hi Ed,

Getting nearer to our planned mid-to-late April CAFO inspections. Today is our deadline for government sequester. This may or may not affect our April plans but too much is still unresolved. We still have a March 31 deadline for the government to finalize our FY2013 budget or close the government if a continuing resolution is not extended. This would really affect the possibility of travel and inspections. HOWEVER, with this being said, I'd like to move forward to plan our April CAFO inspections as if our budget will be in place allowing us to travel and conduct our inspections.

As previously discussed, I am envisioning ten(10) CAFO sized facilities. I recommend a good sample mix not all in compliance but not all in violation. My logic is that we are so overwhelmed (at both the state and federal levels) with our decreasing resources and increasing workload that I want to be able to effectively develop the appropriate enforcement cases where necessary and develop a good collaborative relations with the dairy industry to help spread the permit requirements in an outreach approach to those that only have minor or no violations. We have to take into effect that we are still working to reach closer on our past 13 Chino area AO cases having only recently received our 308 information request info for review and response.

In order to put in for my travel, I'll need to know from you the best week, whether April 8 or April 15th. I've been informed that I may need to go on furlough (unpaid leave days) starting April 24th, so by planning an inspection as part of this April 22nd week may be dicey???

Please let me know which of these former 2 weeks will work best for you. Thanks.

-Glenn
